Tigers Lack Young Hurler on Club in Class with Products of Other Teams.

HALL TOPS THE PITCHERS

Looks to Be the Best Recruit Player in Jennings' Crew, but Is No Sensation.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Detroit, Mich., July 20.—Washington has its Boehling, Chicago has its Russell, New York has its Keating, and Cleveland has its Falkenberg.

Yes, and Philadelphia has its Bush, St. Louis has its Levens, and Boston has its Mooney and Foster.

But Detroit has no recruit pitcher to whom the fans can turn and say, "There is the pride of Detroit; there is the apple of our eye."

Last year the Tigers had the greatest recruit pitcher of the year, Jean Dubuc, who showed American League batters a change of pace such as never had been seen before in the big leagues since the time of Clark Griffith. While St. Louis broke into the honor list with Baumgardner and Wieman, yet the Bengal youngster was the real pitching find of the season.

Tigers Are Lost.
But this year, while four of the American League clubs have real sensations among their new hurlers and three of them have men who give promise of being sensations shortly, Detroit is snubbed by the goddess who dispenses of her favors in the pitching game.

Not that the Tigers may not have just as good pitchers as young Boehling, who leads the league, or Russell, called the greatest youngster who ever broke into the big tent, but if they have, the pitchers have not as yet had the good fortune to show themselves.

Mark Hall leads the youngsters in the percentage column. But Hall is no sensation. He has not shown the kind of stuff writers of the American League cities. The fans still have to inquire his name of each other after the megaphone boy has announced it. He is a good work-day hurler, but no wonder.

George Daus has always been picked as the gem of the kids by the Tiger veterans. Daus seems to be a great pitcher in the East and a mediocre one in the West. The Western climate seems to affect him. Besides, Daus has been ill part of the time, and had hard work getting his arm in shape.

Illness Harms Home.
House has given promise of being a winning pitcher, but illness has butted in upon him at the worst time. Consequently his family has caused him a lot of worry, so that he hasn't shown himself to be another Dubuc.

Zamloch has had both illness, sore arms and bad baseball luck to combine to stick him off at the bottom of the percentage column of Tiger pitchers.

Among the stars of other clubs mentioned, Boehling is the National League's greatest amount of attention now. Boehling has a percentage of 1.000. He has taken part in 15 games, won nine and lost none.

Russell a Wonder.
Tex Russell, of the White Sox, has been acclaimed as the greatest recruit ever taken up from the minors, which is some acclaim. He is a big, uneducated southpaw, who can't read Browning with enjoyment, but can put all kinds of stuff on the ball. Consequently he is due for a salary of fifteen or twenty times as a day next season while the lover of Browning will instruct our youth in the vagaries of the English language again for eight in a month. But that's another story.

Keating hasn't much of a record in the statistics, but Frank Chance says he's a wonder, and many others say he's a second baseman at his best.

Falkenberg, of course, isn't a youngster, but he's a recruit even though he is a come-back.

Bush of Philadelphia, teammate last year of Carl Zamloch in Missouri, is showing well for Mark Levens, if he pitches right along for the Browns this year he will be a wonder, and Mooney and Foster, of Boston, are touted as great hurlers.
